

$songChainn Phase Two Beta - Paragraph Post

Everything below in the purple boxes is paste-ready. Copy each box into the matching field on Paragraph.

1. ONBOARDING QUESTION ("WHAT IS YOUR WEBSITE OR NEWSLETTER URL?")

<https://songchainn.xyz>

$songChainn is a music streaming and social platform built on Base. Artists release songs as tradeable coins, fans stream, discover, and own the music they love. We write about product updates, artist stories, and the journey of building the onchain music marketplace.

Paste the URL first. If Paragraph also lets you add a description, paste the paragraph under the dashed line.

2. POST TITLE

Phase Two Beta Is Here: The $songChainn Music Marketplace

3. POST PREVIEW / SUMMARY (IF ASKED)

Phase One built the audience. Phase Two turns the music into a marketplace. Here is what is live in the beta, a thank you to everyone who fueled Phase One, and an open call for Phase Two partners.

4. POST BODY

Today we are opening the doors to the Phase Two Beta of $songChainn: The Music Marketplace.

Phase One was called Audience First for a reason. Before asking anyone to trade, collect, or invest in music, we set out to prove that people would actually show up to listen, vote, battle, and build taste together. They did, and then some. Streams, live rooms, WaveWarz battles, playlists, and a feed that turned listeners into a community.

Thank you for fueling Phase One

None of this happened alone, and before we talk about what is next, we want to say thank you.

To the artists: you trusted a new platform with your music before there was any track record to point to. You are the reason any of this exists, and Phase Two is built to reward exactly that kind of early conviction.

To the audience: every stream, pulse, vote, and battle you showed up for shaped what $ongChainn became. You were never just users. You were co-builders, and the marketplace is designed so that being early to great music finally counts for something.

To the Create on Base agency: thank you for the guidance, the ecosystem support, and for believing that music belongs onchain.

To the ZAO DAO: thank you for backing the vision and for showing what community-owned culture looks like in practice.

And to Base and Ethereum: thank you for the rails. A fast, low-cost, credibly neutral foundation is what makes it possible for a song to live onchain and for value to flow to the people who create and discover it.

What Phase Two brings

Phase Two turns $ongChainn from a place where you find music into a place where music has a market:

Songs as coins on Base. Tracks are released as tradeable coins, so supporting an artist early is no longer just a vibe, it is a position.

A real marketplace. Browse artists, build your collection, and watch the Signal tab to see what the community is moving on in real time.

Loyalty that pays attention. Points, tiers, and OG badges that recognize the people who were here first and keep showing up.

WaveWarz battles, live rooms, and the social feed all stay, and now they feed directly into what the marketplace surfaces.

This is a beta. Things will evolve, and your feedback will steer where it goes. That is the point of opening it now instead of later.

Phase Two is actively looking for partners

We are opening conversations with partners who want to build the onchain music economy with us: labels and independent artists ready to release onchain, DAOs and communities who want culture with real ownership, brands looking to reach an engaged music-native audience, and builders in the Base and Ethereum ecosystems who see what music can become when the market layer is native.

If that sounds like you, reach out at info@thezao.com or come find us in the app.

Join the beta

The Phase Two Beta is live now at <https://songchainn.xyz>. Stream something. Collect something. Tell an artist you were early.

Phase One proved the audience is real. Phase Two proves the market is too.

See you onchain.

The $ongChainn Team